ALBERTA FACES A BIG DEFICIT: NEW TAXES IMPOSED

Although there has been a substantial paring down of expenditures in many lines, particularly in contemplated capital expenditure, the U.F.A. government budget presented in the legislature Monday afternoon by Premier Greenfield estimates a deficit on operations this year of $1,016,239.15. This will make the deficit at least $5,000,000 for the last three years.

Proposed expenditure from collections this year will be $11,170,859.95, the revenue being placed at $10,154,620.80. Last year the revenue exclusive of capital borrowings was $924,889.75.

Including $2,600,000 to be spent from income account on provincial telephone and another $7,621,482.74 to be borrowed on capital account for various purposes the total expenditure for 1923 will be $20,376,103.54 according to the estimates.

As explained by the premier in his budget speech, the main reason for the deficit is not through lack of economy in operation, but through the fact that expected revenues did not reach their anticipated total, by the sum of $2,349,671.18 during the year. In all the important branches of anticipated revenue and more especially in those of the department of the attorney general, municipal affairs department and school lands branch, a heavy falling off is recorded.

Despite the utmost care in administration, which resulted in a total saving of $762,231.26 during 1922, in the estimates of all departments, the huge total of almost two millions of dollars stands between the credits and debit of the balance sheet of the provinces revenues and expenditures for the past year.

NEW TAXATION

Provincial tax on mineral leases—expected to yield $300,000.

Tax on soft drinks—expected to yield $50,000.

Tax on slot gambling machine—$150,000.

Succession duties act advance—additional $45,000.

CUTS IN PUBLIC SERVICES

Reduction in grants to primary, secondary schools and University of Alberta.

Reduction in staff of school inspectors.

Discontinuation of normal school at Edmonton.

Closing of two more schools of agriculture. (Possibly Vermilion and Raymond).

Reduction in staff of public health nurses.

Big reduction in capital expenditure on roads, bridges and public buildings Centralization and rearrangement of care of mental patients to bring about saving in capital expenditure.

REDUCTION IN DEPARTMENTAL EXPENDITURE (OVER 1922):

Civil government	$ 81,537.56
Legislation	6,264.45
Administration of justice	66,912.24
Public works	129,291.13
Education	119,309.70
Agriculture and statistics	263,006.61
Railways branch	5,482.31
Municipal affairs	2,939.17

Total $674,779.21
Increases include public debt advance of $378,437.00 due to capital borrowing last year; increase in public health estimates of $83,386.36. General administration costs will be $35,521.27 higher than in 1922, while miscellaneous appropriations will be $113,104.47 more than in 1922.

The three new sources of taxation, mineral rights, slot machines, and soft drinks are expected to bring in an estimated total of $500,000 in added revenue for 1923. The balance of $1,106,239.15 is to be made up, if at all possible by a continuation of the efforts towards economy that have been set forth in 1922.

The tax on mineral rights embraces coal, oil and natural gas leases on Dominion lands to be fixed at a few cents per acre of leasehold, collected by the municipality in which the lease is located and sent to the department of municipal affairs. The rate per acre is not fixed but the estimated revenue from this source is $300,000.

On soft drinks the method of collection will probably be somewhat on the same basis as the gasoline tax by taking a percentage of the gross sales of manufacturers and wholesalers, while the slot machine tax will be imposed on the basis of a fixed tax per machine in use, with an estimated revenue of $150,000.

PRESENTATION AT RIBSTONE

A very enjoyable evening was spent at the Knox church Ribstone on Friday evening March 23rd; when a very fine program was rendered. Mr. Mitchelson acting as chairman opened the evenings entertainment with a short address, after which the following items were contributed.

Mrs. Pound piano selection; Mrs. Etson, reading; Miss Lizzie Morrison, recitation; Miss Morrison also substituted for her mother who was indisposed and unable to attend; Duet by Miss A. Dominy and Mr. Dell; Duet by Misses Anna McCaghy and Violet Young; Miss Muriel Blair, recitation; Mr. L. L. Pound, Song; Mr. Clasper, Song; Mr. Dobson, Solo.

A liberal sum was realized which will be devoted to the building fund of the church.

At the close Mrs. Crittenden and Miss Dominy in the name of the Ladies Aid presented Mr. Mitchelson with a lovely writing companion. In doing so remarked in effect: This is to show our appreciation of your work among us and we are pleased to know you are still to remain with us. Mr. Mitchelson replied briefly thanking the Ladies Aid for their kind thoughts of him and trusted his still being among them would prove a blessing to all.

CHAUVIN SCHOOL TRUSTEES MEETING

A meeting of the trustees of the Chauvin School District No. 2196 was, was held on Monday April 2nd 1923 at 8 o'clock p.m.

Present: Dr. Folkins (chairman), Mrs. Saul and Mr. Foxwell.

Minutes: The minutes of last preceding meeting were read, and Mrs. Saul moved, Mr. Foxwell seconded, that same be adopted as read.

Telephone: Secretary reported having placed the order for the telephone and paid the necessary fee.

Tax notices: Secretary reported having issued all tax notices for 1923.

Accounts: Chauvin Chronicle, $5.75; Telephone account: 75 cents; Moyer & Co. $10.00; Express $1.00; Pharmacy $16.95.

Mr. Foxwell moved, Mrs. Saul seconded that these accounts be paid. Carried.

Complaints: Secretary reported that the Provincial Inspector of Nuisances had paid a visit to the schools, and complained of the dirty condition of the boys privy; he also asked that ural accommodation by way of one or small troughs be arranged for. Chairman appointed Mr. Foxwell a committee to make the necessary arrangements to be done.

Inspector's Report: Secretary read the report of the Inspector as to his last visit, and Mr. Foxwell moved, Mrs. Saul seconded that same be accepted as read. Carried.

School Fees: Secretary read having sent out accounts to all school districts concerned in the matter of school fees for outside pupils attending Chauvin School. Prospect Valley S.D. had replied stating that they had been providing instruction for grades above the 8th for some time; and therefore would not be responsible for any pupil's fees. Letter had been mailed to the parent concerned in this case, advising them of the action of their School Board.

Killarney School District had also given notice that they were now teaching grade nine pupils at that school, and would not be responsible for any pupils attending Chauvin for that grade.

Secretary reported receipt of grant from the Department of $353.95 for last term.

Arrears, Taxes: Chairman had received a letter from Mr. F. W. Antaxes. Secretary read correspondence in this regard extending from 1920. After a full discussion Mr. Foxwell moved that these arrears stand according to the records and the cheque received be retained. Carried.

Letter was to be forwarded explaining the finding of the Board, Mr. Foxwell was appointed a committee to interview Mr. Goodall and report at next meeting.

Piano: The Trustees having been informed that Mr. G. W. Allan had a piano for sale, and Mrs. Saul having been requested to see the same with a view, to purchase the same for the school; Mrs. Saul reported having examined the piano and was of the opinion that it was good and in good condition. The price was $375.00. Secretary stated that if this was too much for the Board, and if they decided to purchase a piano, he was willing to dispose of his own piano (Continued on foot of next column)

AGRICULTURAL SOCY DECIDE TO CARRY ON WITH CHAUVIN FAIR

It was decided to carry on with the plans and hold a fair at Chauvin this year at the meeting of the Chauvin Agricultural Society last Saturday afternoon. This is a bold decision for the society to reach, owing to the fact that the provincial government has decided to reduce the amount of the grant. At the same time the government has not yet made any definite statement as to how much the grant will be reduced. This in turn leaves the society in a position that it cannot raise money from the bank until such time as the nature of the grant is determined.

Under these circumstances the directors had to do some careful planning, and have decided to carry on with the usual fair program, though of financial safety some of the prize monies will have to be reduced in amount. The directors feel that they will have the support of the public generally behind them, and they will therefore relax no efforts to make the 1923 fair a big success.

Careful consideration is being given to the matter of attractions of fair day, and the secretary has been instructed to make arrangements to be available in this line, and to report at the next meeting.

CHAUVIN G. W. V. A.

A general meeting of the Chauvin branch of the G. W. V. A., was held in the office of the treasurer-comrade T. H. Saul, Saturday evening last at 8.30 p.m., Comrade C. J. Smith, President occupied the chair.

The regular routine business having been completed, the members had the pleasure of listening to a most interesting and instructive address, delivered by Major H. Strachan, V. C., in which he dwelt with Modern Egypt from the time of General Gordon until the present date. He clearly outlined political and economic development in this period; and described in full detail the strategy of some of the major military operations.

A hearty vote of thanks was then given to Comrade Strachan by the president on behalf of the branch.

Moved Com. Strachan, seconded Com. Pitman, that the subject of the next lecture be "The Royal Commissions Report on Pensions, etc" and "What the G. W. V. A. is doing for Returned Men now"—the lecture to be given by Com. C. J. Smith, the president.

The matter of mounting the Hun machine guns was then discussed and a committee composed of Coms. Strachan, Saul and Stevens was appointed to draw up suitable plans for same. Meeting then adjourned.

The boy of twenty-one has fifty hearts, what matter if he loses one

(Continued from preceding column) for $275.00, provided some independent person was appointed to examine and report on both pianos. Dr. Folkins and Mr. Foxwell were appointed a committee to go into the matter of purchasing a piano with power to act. Moved Dr. Folkins seconded Mrs. Saul. Carried.

Chairman then declared the meeting adjourned.

EASTER BELLS RING OUT AT CHAUVIN ON $1,000 CHURCH BELL

The first ringing of a church bell at Chauvin was heard Easter Sunday morning. The new bell having arrived at the Church of the Sacred Heart a few days before.

The bell, which weighs 1100 lbs, was cast at Annecy le Vieux, France, by George & Francisque Paccard—a firm that has been in operation since 1796. The bell, some 35 in wide at the bottom, is cast from an alloy of 78 per cent pure red copper and 22 per cent pure tin, gives a rich musical chime.

The bell is decorated with a small crucifix, and a five line inscription which reads:—Sacre Coeur de Jésus—S S Pie XI Pope Mgr J. H. O'Leary Archevque d'Edmonton—Reverend Pere J. A. Huot, S. C. J., Cure—Frere Belge, Leger Roy, Eug. Cote, J. Pare—V. Cyr. Mrs P. Leroux.

The cost of this bell and hanging is slightly in excess of $1,000.00, of this amount some $600.00 is still needed to complete payment.

The dedication of the bell will be solemnized on or about May 24th next when Archbishop O'Leary, supported by the clergy, is expected to be present to officiate.

ST. VALENTINE'S PRACTICAL JOKE

(By Mabel L. Stuart)

"Will you look at Elizabeth Pearce?" whispered Miss Hattie Hopper to her sister Ellen as they trudged homeward through the February slush, 'gazing in at those valentines as if she were sixteen, and she's as old as I am, every day of it? I detest elderly women who try to be kittenish."

"Better kittenish than cattish," returned Miss Ellen, her mild brown eyes smiling at the trim little figure standing before the stationer's window inspecting the display of artistic quaintly-worded cards. "She's ten years younger than you, and valentines are so romantic."

Miss Hattie regarded her with a fiercely suspicious glance. She had never been able to decide in fifty long years whether Ellen meant those things or not. But the sweet, abstracted look in Miss Ellen's eyes disarmed her.

"Romantic? Sentimental, mawkish maudlin, I say," scolded Miss Hattie. "I think someone has missed a perfectly lovely wife in Miss Elizabeth," mused dreamy Miss Ellen. "She shares the burdens and smooths out the trouble of half the town."

"Of course, her fiancée was killed in the South African war," admitted Miss Hattie. "It was very sad, but she should have put such frivolity behind her long ago Valentines—tush!"

"That one with the well-fed cupids and gaudy hearts for 'Theo,'" Miss Elizabeth was musing. "He's a savage as regards bright colors. And that frightfully sentimental one for Ray he's getting to that stage now. I have Billy's and Bert's already. Now for the Trents. Christmas and Hollowe'en and St Valentine's Day always seem to me especially the children's own, with their mystery and surprise. I don't want to miss one of my child friends. Indeed, I rather like valentines myself."

Miss Elizabeth had found that autumn and winter decidedly trying. There had been the Trents on one side to help through measles and whooping cough, and the four perfectly healthy and spirited Longley boys and their inconsequent aunt on the other to extricate from many varied and complicated difficulties. If one's neighbor is anyone who needs one's help, Miss Elizabeth was beginning to think that that she had more neighbors than anyone else in town.

"You shouldn't do it, Elizabeth," her sister Eleanor, had scolded on her last visit to the white stucco cottage "That's what comes of being single and with no ties. You're at everybody's beck and call. If Miss Longley is so useless and such a poor manager and lets boys run wild, then their father ought to marry again or stay here instead of travelling for the Barkley Manufacturing Company in India and such healthenish places.

"As for you, there's Dr. Beck. He has wanted you for years. It's crying shame."

"You may save your breath, my dear Eleanor," said Elizabeth. "I'm nervous enough now without having a nerve specialist always around making me to imagine there's something the matter with me. As for helping people over the hard places; to my mind it's the greatest thing in life, and the harder the place the better you feel for beating it down."

"I don't know what's to become of those four boys," sighed her sister. "If their aunt goes to California, and the doctor says she must for a year, being broken down by worry and nervous strain, and their father goes off to foreign parts again in April, they'd better be sent to a boarding school where there are strict masters."

"They are not unmanageable boys," cried Miss Elizabeth, instantly up in arms. "All they need is more tact and less nagging, and they'd do anything for a little petting."

Eleanor glanced at her sister's diminutive figure, her soft-waving brown hair and dainty grey blue gown. "And why not," she murmured absently.

The Misses Hopper were not the only observers of Miss Elizabeth's window. When she emerged from the store with her carefully chosen packages in her shopping bag Theo Longley's round, somewhat betaffied face peered round the corner of the store and next moment his stocky figure had disappeared within.

"It's there yet," he murmured, jingling the coins in the lining of his coat where they had slipped through one of the holes in his pocket. "And it's a peach. Fifty cents. I'm glad dad and the boys and I can give her a really decent one, an then for dad to promise a box of roses to put it in—that was a bright thought."

Before deciding on his purchase Theo made a careful study of every valentine in the shop. This was a serious matter and his eight year-old mind was fully impressed with the importance of the responsibility placed upon him by the family; the selecting of a valentine for their dearest friend and neighbor who never looked cross, and who always knew just what to do about things and never refused to do it.

After another half hour spent in chasing various pieces of silver round in the lining and counting them over several times, he found that he had the fifty cents donated by the willing family and twenty-five of his own saved from his Christmas money.

"Just enough," he chuckled, a dreamy thoughtful expression in his impish brown eyes. "It would melt a heart of stone."

There was great excitement and enthusiasm in the Longley home that St. Valentine's eve when Theo returned with his purchase to be approved by the family, and Mr. Longley arrived at dinner time with a huge box of vreat, pink, dewy petalled roses.

"How lovely," exclaimed Aunt Martha as she touched the soft, sweet scented blossoms. "Exactly what she'll like, the darling. When I go to California, why, I'll just revel in roses. Yes Jack, the doctor said so today; it is absolutely necessary I must although I feel dreadfully about leaving you and the boys even a year, I know I am useless and well, call it shiftless, but still I am better than no one. No doubt we can think of somebody much better."

"It is our strenuous home that has broken down your health, dear," he sighed, passing a nervous hand through his thick black hair that was showing signs of silver at the temples. "You were never strong, and I don't wonder that even with a good maid the responsibility and everything else has worried you almost to death. First father and mother to nurse and take care of, and now your brother and his noisy family"

"I always thought Aunt Martha should be a saint in a niche" put in Theo, pronouncing it "nick" up above troubles and things, and muddy boots and tears in coats and shirts. She's so fair and delicate and like the lady playing the organ in the picture and looking at the ceiling."

"If you mean poor St. Cecilia, don't insult her," laughed Aunt Martha. "Put your valentine in the box, dear till I tie it up. Now, who is going to take it over to Miss Elizabeth."

"Dad," insisted Theo. "He is the oldest; just ring the bell, father and watch that she takes them in so they won't freeze."

Mr. Longley readily consented to act as emissary. He felt that all the roses in Christendom would never convey the Longley gratitude for all that Miss Elizabeth had done for them since they had become her neighbors a few months ago. Indeed he felt himself growing boyish and sentimental as he strode up the neatly shovelled walk and deposited the parcel on the doorstep. He pictured her sitting rocking beside the buff and gold shaded reading lamp, with the hearth-fire crackling and snapping before her, for Miss Elizabeth was partial to wood-fires in her grate—they looked so cheerful.

He sighed as he groped for the bell and prepared to bolt into the shelter of the hedge according to instructions. But as he touched the knob the door flew open and Miss Elizabeth stepped out, uttering a horrified gasp as she found herself confronted by a burly figure muffled to the eyes against the February snow.

"It's only your neighbor," explained Mr. Longley apologetically. "You almost stepped on your valentine."

"A valentine," cried Miss Elizabeth "why, I was just going to mail these through the slit in the door. I wanted the boys to have them the first thing in the morning. Of course they'll think they are from charming golden haired damsels anywhere from seven to fourteen."

"Well since the secret is out," began Mr. Longley, picking up the box, "allow me to present this small token of affection and gratitude from the Longley family in unison."

"Oh, I know it's beautiful," murmured Miss Elizabeth. "And you must come in for a moment while I open it."

Mr. Longley entered obediently and followed Miss Elizabeth into the little tasteful, artistic sitting room which seemed to be almost filled by his great height and corresponding breath.

"Just sit down here by the fire," invited his hostess, drawing up the arm chair. "This is most exciting—my first valentine for twenty years. Its opening is an occasion, a ceremony." She opened the box and gazed with rapturous eyes at the mass of delicate perfumed bloom in its bed of green.

"It's wickedly extravagant, but it's lovely," she sighed. "I am simply overwhelmed."

Theo chose the valentine after an hour's careful deliberation, laughed Mr. Longley. "It only vaguely express es what we feel. You have looked after the household when my sister was ill, helped her in a thousand ways all through these months, patched and mended the family periodically when the need became too blatantly apparent and countless of other things."

"This is all very embarrassing," declared Miss Elizabeth, drawing the dainty, lace-paper offering from its envelope. "And the darling child chose it himself. Why here is another as well

She regarded the second and less elaborate card with a dazed expression. Her cheeks grew crimson and her eyes snapped. Mr. Longley felt as though an icy wind had swept across the room. She rose from her chair and glared at her guest. Then, meeting his horror stricken glance, she sank back into her rocker and broke into a peal of mellow laughter.

"I'm behaving like a school girl," she cried. "If there is a ludicrous side to a thing I always see it, quite often at the wrong time. But it is really very funny. I can't keep it from you after looking so vicious and then behaving so childishly. See what Theo has sent me on his own account. This is the funniest thing that ever happened to me."

Mr. Longley took the valentine reluctantly. What awful disgrace had his youngest son brought upon the family this time?"

The card was glaring as to coloring and the verse "mawkishly sentimental," as Miss Hattie Hooper would have described it, and it ended with an impassioned appeal to "be my valentine for ever and for aye."

But to crown all Theo had penned a note below the verse in his own inimitable manner.

"Dear Miss Elizabeth," it ran. "I know this is exactly what father thinks about you, only he's afraid to say so. I've seen it in his eyes. I asked you once before to be our mother and you told me never to speak again, so I'm just writing it. Now we're desprited with Aunt Martha going away and only a father left, and him in India mostly. If you see any signs of father starting to say anything on this subject or even look it, help him along, darling Miss Elizabeth, and win the undying love of the Longley family, Yours truly, Theo."

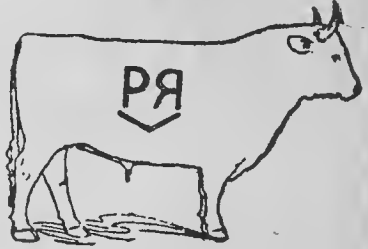

There was tears in Miss Elizabeth's eyes as she watched her visitor's changing countenance—tears of pity and tears of mirth, pity for the four noisy, romping, lovable boys who had known so little of a mother's care.

The expression which finally settled on Mr. Longley's face was anything but a pleasant one, and boded ill for Theo. It might have been termed ferocious. He dropped the offending valentine as though it were a deadly germ. "I'll interview my son about this," he announced rising from his chair with portentous flash of his black eyes.

Miss Elizabeth trembled. She had never seen the easy-going, good natured man in a rage before. She too rose hastily, and stood before him, very small, very flushed and exceedingly determined. He should not lay a finger on her pet Theo who had planned it all for everybody's good—couldn't the man understand that? It wasn't meant for interference or impudence. It was

THE QUEBEC DOG DERBY

(1) Winning team of Quebec Dog Derby.—(2) Spectators at the course.—(3) Jean Lebell, the winner, receives the prize from Mayor Samson.

THE racing of dog teams in sleighs is probably not an ancient form of sport, and more probably still, it is a sport that came first into being in our own country. It is pretty sure that prehistoric man had his friendly dogs to help him run down his game and warn him of the approach of enemies and perhaps served some small purpose as a beast of burden. Modern days have seen dogs hauling carts through the streets of European towns and when the white man first came to Canada the Indians of the plains harnessed him as they did their horses to a couple of poles on which were placed articles they wished to convey from one camp to another. In the Arctic the sleigh was the natural form of vehicle and the development of the "Huskie" from the wolf was the natural form of evolution. The dog performed a great work in the opening up of the North to civilization. Travel and trade depended entirely upon him and he did his work well. The natural instinct of the white man towards sport could only result in the development of dog team racing and the interest in the sport has spread until no winter carnival in Canada or the Northern States is complete without at least one dog race.

The Eastern International Dog Derby held in the ancient city of Quebec recently was a curious instance of the fascination this sport has for all kinds and conditions of men. Never since the days of the war were there gathered on the streets of that city such crowds as were there to see the dogs start and finish, and the dramatic incidents of the race were followed by crowds around the bulletin boards of the city as reports came in by telephone from various points along the route of the race. The race was run in three heats, the distance averaging 43 miles on each day which was by no means a hard day's work for the dogs. The total distance run was 131 miles and the running time taken by the winning team was 15.50 hours. The race was won by Jean Lebell and his five dogs, a team belonging to the Brown Corporation of Quebec, and one that earns its livelihood by carrying mails and supplies into the companies northern camps.

That is the bare story of the race, easily enough told, but it is not so easy to tell of the tremendous interest taken in the race by the people of Quebec and the hundreds of visitors who had come from all over Canada and the United States to witness it. The Grande Allée, Quebec's show street, was every day lined with thousands of people to see the dogs start and finish, and if half the promises made are lived up to, another year will see hundreds of dog teams owned and trained by Quebec's citizens, purely for the love of the game.

Jean Lebell, the winner, had undoubtedly the best team for that kind of a race. Only one term could exactly describe them—they were mongrels, and there's much to be said for the mongrel if the breeds that make up his varied parentage are of the right sort. Jean Lebell's dogs were largely Great Danes, but here and there, there seemed to be a touch of the hound or even of the greyhound in them, and that may account for their speed. The one United States entry in the race was a magnificent team of huskies that owned Labrador as their original home. They were beautiful dogs, but they were not in good shape, or perhaps the story of the race might have been different.

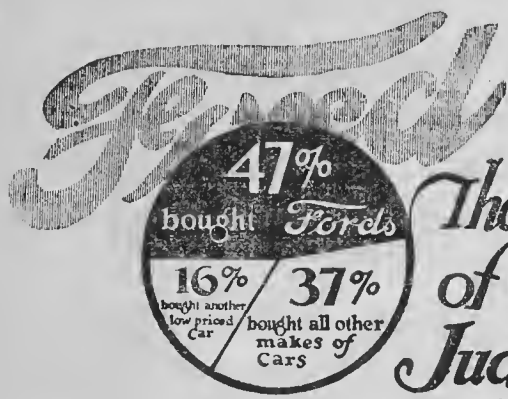

On each one of the three racing days the dogs came from the stables fresh and eager for the run. They set out on the course at ten minute intervals, and as each team shot away from the starting point it was given a splendid send-off. The finishes were much more exciting, and that of the last day was particularly so. On the first two days Lebell had finished first, although others of the eight competing teams had started ahead of him. On the final heat he started last, and would have finished first but for an unfortunate accident.

Another Brown Corporation team, driven by Jim Skeene was the first to appear. It had started second, but passed the first early in the race, and Lebell followed about one minute behind. All through the series Lebell had saved his dogs by taking them out of the harness alternately and giving them a rest in the sleigh. He had made a bet that he would for the third time be the first in the stable. When about four miles from the finish and going strong one of his dogs suffered a cut foot. There was hard going ahead if that bet was to be won, but Lebell never flinched. The dog came out of the harness, his foot was bound up and, wrapped in Lebell's coat, he finished the rest of the journey in the sleigh, and if ever a dog looked ashamed of himself as his comrades pulled to victory, that dog was the one. While Skeene beat Lebell to the finishing post, Lebell managed to get into the stable first, and so won his bet.

Lebell is a French-Canadian with a fine war record. He and his dogs are inseparable chums, and when it comes to endurance, the man is about as good as the dogs. He finished the race running beside his team and doing a good share of the pulling on the sleigh. He is to-day the hero of Quebec and the $1,000 prize and silver cup, which he won, is but a small part of the glory that fell to him.

Another international dog race is practically assured for Quebec next year. The Chateau Frontenac for this occasion housed a brilliant gathering of guests who were interested in the race, and some of these have announced that they will see that the United States is well represented.

The Value of Good Judgment—

You are considering the purchase of a Car. You are not quite sure of your judgment. You desire to know what the judgment of other car buyers has been. It has been the well-ordered and considered judgment of forty-seven car buyers out of every hundred who have bought cars to buy a Ford Car.

Of the remaining fifty-three, the highest number who purchased any one make of car was sixteen. Forty-seven people will average among them better judgment than sixteen.

And it was the well-ordered and considered judgment of these people to buy Ford cars. These people were scattered from Halifax to Vancouver—with the average transportation needs to solve for themselves and their goods. They bought Ford Cars.

Their judgment was based on—

Lowest Initial Cost.
Lowest Upkeep Cost.
Lowest Prices for repair parts.
Ability to obtain parts readily and anywhere.
Ability to obtain service at any one of 3,000 Service Stations—in a straight line from Halifax to Vancouver—these Service Stations would be only one mile apart.
The knowledge that the price of car, the repair parts and service labor is standardized to the lowest possible point.

The well-ordered and considered judgment of forty-seven purchasers out of every hundred purchasers of cars to buy a Ford Car should be the determining factor on your part to buy a Ford Car.

The Price of the Touring Car is $445.
Freight and Government Taxes extra.
And it can be bought on a monthly payment plan.

CO-OPERATION

What you see in a comb of honey is a pound of perfect sweetness encased in a wax structure that is a triumph of architectural engineering.

You pay twenty-five or thirty cents for this, take it home, spread it on your bread to tickle your palate and help fill your physical fuel bin, and—

What you don't see in this comb of honey is a little army of bees working harder than Trojans ever worked, sucking the ambrosia from thousands of clover blossoms.

Your pound of honey contains 7,000 grains of sugar. Each clover blossom provides about one-eighth of a grain, so this pound represents the sweet fruitage of 56,000 clover heads.

But the clover head is composed of about sixty florets or flower tubes. To extract the hidden sweet the bee must probe each of these. This means some sixty separate operations on each flower.

If one bee contracted to gather a pound of honey, that bee would have to explore 3,360,000 of these tiny tubes to secure the material. Allowing five seconds for each exploration and twelve hours to a day, it would take this bee some four hundred days to produce a pound.

And this would represent only the gathering of the honey, not the time required for building the wax-case and storing the sweet stuff.

But there never was a hive with just one bee to each comb.

Nature commands pooled effort.

Hundreds of bees to each comb makes a comparatively quick and easy operation of what would be an impossible task for one bee working alone.

So what we do not see in the comb of honey is the greatest of lessons in one of the greatest of success-makers—Co-operation.

On every side Nature flaunts this lesson in man's face.

The seed itself is nothing.

Sun, soil, and moisture must co-operate with the latent germ in order to produce plant life.

The most solid rock is only co-operating atoms.

The strongest man is weak alone. Only by working with others or winning others to work with him can he achieve worthwhile results.

The biggest business is bound for failure if its workers do not co-operate.

It is a machine whose parts do not work together. It may run for a while on its own momentum, but it is headed for the dump-heap.

To co-operate is to join forces and something more. It is to join hearts as well as hands, and slip a little soul in the bargain.

Not to co-operate is to court loneliness, life-rust and loss.

The A.B.C. of success is this—Be a Bee! CO-OPERATE.

PROHIBITION

(Contributed)

Chief City Magistrate of New York says that during 1922 the arrests for inebriation in that centre exceeded those of 1921 by 2,582, and that arraignments for violation increased by 1,817, as compared with the previous year. This looks like an Irishman's rise in the prohibition business.

READING'S SOBER REPUTATION

At the general annual licensing meeting for the Borough of Reading, held on Thursday last week, the Chief Constable (Captain J. S. Henderson) in his annual report, presented a table showing the drunkenness in the borough compared with 34 other towns. In this table Reading appeared as the second most sober town, having had 42 persons (37 male and 5 female) proceeded against, or 45 per thousand inhabitants. The report also stated that there were 253 licensed premises in the borough, 197 being on-licenses and 55 off-licenses, giving an average of 366 persons to each licensed house.

Alderman J. W. Martin, the chairman congratulated the Chief Constable and the police force, and also the members of the trade for so loyally supporting the Chief Constable in carrying out the law and making Reading a sober town. He hoped this state of things would long continue.

It is the fashion now-a-days -to regard anyone who criticises prohibition as holding a brief for "drink".

This is very natural of course, but let us suppose for the minute that the present writer is an ordinary citizen without criminal proclivities.

Now, no one would oppose prohibition if it proved able to transform our drunken minority into worthy members of society. The benefit of wholesome malt liquor to the temperate might be exchanged for the iniquitous slops which prevail today, if prohibition accomplished so much.

The only question is "does it?"

"Thinking men do not oppose the ideal" of socialism. The only thing against it is that it does not function and the world has today discovered that the only result of the measures which have been tried to that end, have brought about revolution and idleness.

Modern statesmanship has an unfortunate affection for extremes.

We are informed that future generations will lose all desire for alcohol under prohibition. Yet the red man who had never known it—became a fiend the moment he came into contact with it. Well it is better to have loved and lost than never to have loved. This may be the secret!

If the mere passing of a law can be so potent as to wipe away the drink evil, we should bring before our legislators a few other little evils which need their wise attention. We might then dispense with our church and school, and the local Mrs. Grundy would be unnecessary.

But surely "control" not "prohibition" is the same law. As things stand, the bootlegger has no opposition! The day must come in time (this is inevitable) when the mass of decent people will clamour for the repeal of this unwise legislation, and opposed to them, upholding prohibition, will be the wealth and prestige and vested interests of the mighty bootlegger.

This is developing before our eyes. America is becoming more inebriate under prohibition. And how many have considered the trouble that is being steadily manufactured. How many thousands are lawbreakers through drinking their vile poison? What is it all costing us as a nation?

If "drink" had ever filled our hospitals and asylums to the extent which "moonshine" is doing now, public opinion would have roared aloud.

But we have prohibition!! (Hurrah)

Is anyone studying results or is prohibition just a fad? Does anyone know what is going on or does no one care? When prosperity returns and money is free again the bootlegger will enter into his kingdom.

If we cannot prohibit now—what then?

A woman has to be artificial in order to appear natural to a man.

DEBTS ABOLISHED
OTHER APPOINTMENTS

OTTAWA,—The officers of assistant vice-president and publicity agent Grand Trunk Railway, and general statistician, Canadian National Railway, are abolished as a consequence of the appointment of the following officers for the Canadian railways, announced here recently by Sir Henry Thornton:

D. E. Galloway to be chief assistant to the president. He was formerly assistant vice-president, Grand Trunk Railway system, Montreal.

W. S. Thompson to be director of publicity. Mr. Thompson has hitherto been publicity agent, Grand Trunk, Montreal.

R. A. C. Henry to be director bureau of economics. He was special engineer, department of railways and canals, Ottawa.

E. P. Mallory to be director bureau of statistics. He was formerly general statistician, Canadian National Railways, Toronto.

DEPEND ON THE FOREST

When a man writes his name, reads his paper, puts on his shirt, his necktie, his shoes, his black suit when he smokes his pipe, when he takes aspirin or quinine or when he takes acetanilid for headache, when he goes hunting or to the movies, when he plays a phonographic record, when he uses his radiophone when he paints his house, varnishes his floor, lights his fire, eats his sausages, he comes into contact directly or indirectly with the chemical utilization of the forest. The chemistry of wood, whether we know it or not, is part and parcel of our daily existence.

The discovery of new uses for wood is keeping ahead of the discovery of substitutes for wood, which explain the necessity of governments and all forest authorities adopting a policy that will provide for the scientific handling of this great and rapidly diminishing natural resource.

Friday was a very busy day at the curling rink. No less than three challenges were issued for the "Laurence Memorial Cup" and when the third game was finished, the Joss rink emerged victors and jauntily strutted off with the coveted trophy.

IN THE ALBERTA LEGISLATURE

Debate on the budget, and estimates, which were introduced on Monday by Premier Greenfield, has been in progress in the Legislature during the past week and is being resumed again on Tuesday, when the members gather after the Easter recess.

On Monday, the house divided 30 to 21, against a resolution introduced by J. Dechene of the Opposition, as follows:

Resolved that in the opinion of this House the Government of the Province should request the Government of the Dominion to oppose any legislation which may be introduced in the Parliament of Canada permitting Oleomargarine to be sold in this Dominion, as such legislation would be detrimental to the producers of dairy products in the Province of Alberta.

The House also divided on Monday on a motion by F. J. White, of Calgary, to have the amendments to the Edmonton Charter re-committed to the committee of the whole house. The motion was lost by a vote of 15 to 29.

Night sessions have been in progress during the week, and will continue until the conclusion of the house. There is still considerable legislation to be considered, and the question of a plebiscite on the liquor petition is also to be dealt with.

Bills introduced during the week include one by Hon. Mr. Reid to amend the village act, and one to amend the municipal districts act, and one by Mr. Johnston of Medicine Hat to amend the public libraries act, which seeks to make it necessary for certain municipalities to set aside a set amount each year for public library purposes.

LOVE DEPLORES WASTEFULNESS

The following is taken from the Edmonton Bulletin, Saturday, March 31: a part of the report of proceedings in the Alberta legislature the previous day:—

Mr Love deplored at length the wastefulness and high cost of war, claiming that wealth ought to be conscripted by the nation the same as manhood. Here as a result of the war farmers and soldiers who bore the brunt of the struggle were the first to suffer in the aftermath. He admitted that immigration and more population might seem to be the solution of the economic and financial problem but in reality there must be remunerative markets opened first. When farmers and laborers were able to obtain an ample return for their work the matter of immigration would look after itself. Alberta as a young province enjoyed splendid services but it was now the duty of the government to reduce taxes to the utmost. He defended the provincial university as worth its cost to the province, wondering how Mr Davidson who had formerly advocated a second university in Calgary concluded that two could be operated more cheaply than one.

After noting that Alberta's government had grown out of proportion to the population Mr Love regretted the extent of governmental borrowings to carry on operations.

"What has been the cause of this enormous expansion of the public services" asked the speaker, "I believe one of the many factors has been the socialistic conception of the paternal rule of the state, and a tendency to regard the state as the chief force in consolidating and expanding national life. The question often arises these days as to just how far government control can supplant private enterprise with advantage to the people. Private enterprise seeks to increase wealth as a source of profit and its expenditure is regulated by its income. In the case of government ownership and control the revenue demand is fixed by the amount of expenditure determined on in advance and thus arises opportunities for extravagance."

Marketing Seed Grain

A large proportion of the 16,000 bushels of registered seed grain being handled through the Alberta government cleaning and grading plant at Edmonton for seed growers in the province, has been marketed successfully. Carloads of seed wheat have been forwarded from the plant to points in eastern Canada and the States. The plant has been operating night and day recently to keep up with orders for the seed. The cleaning and grading plant is one of the most modern on the continent, and as as many as fifteen grades of wheat can be obtained through the various processes of cleaning and grading. The large Monitor fanning mill has a capacity of 500 bushels an hour, and is capable of producing four grades of grain. The Rotary grader produces as many as six grades, and the Vickers cylinder machine gives another three or five if necessary. The cost of the plant was between $5,000 and $6,000.

STAMPEDE AT EDMONTON SPRING SHOW

The Live Stock Commissioner for the Dominion of Canada, Mr. H. S. Arkell, will be a visitor at the Edmonton Spring Live Stock Show, April 9-14, and will officially open the Show on April 10th.

163 purebred bulls have been entered for the auction sale of bulls on April 10th and 11th, every one of which will be guaranteed free from tuberculosis.

For the Show programme many unique features will be included. This annual Show is recognized as the best of its kind held in Western Canada, and the Fat Stock Show in particular is a revelation of what Northern Alberta can do in the way of production and feeding.

In addition to the fat stock, and breeding and show horse classes, Guy Weadick with his cowboys and cowgirls will give exhibitions of fancy riding and roping and other stampede features; the Edmonton Saddle Club are preparing gymkhana and other events; there will be a catch-the-greased-pig-contest for the youngsters, and a fancy dress parade in which the winners will be decided by popular vote, each spectator being given a ballot on which to mark his choice.

Excursion rates of fare-and-one-third are good for this event, from April 7th to 14th, return limit April 17th.

We understand that a number of prominent farmers in this district have arranged to send live stock to this show.

"EGG"-SPECTED TOO MUCH

An actress, who had retired from the stage and had bought a little house in the country, decided to start a poultry farm.

Accordingly, acting on the principle that all big businesses have small beginnings, she bought a barndoor fowl and a sitting of thirteen eggs.

As she had no knowledge of poultry at all she wrote to a poultry journal asking how long the eggs would take to hatch out. The paper replied:

Three weeks for chickens and four for ducks."

Some weeks later she wrote again to the paper:

"Many thanks for your advice. However, at the end of three weeks there were no chickens hatched out, and as I did not want ducks. I took the hen off."

CHANCE TO PROFIT

Rafferty, of the Old Sod, and MacPherson, a Scot were miners together. One day Rafferty accidentally emptied his pipe on a keg of powder and when he came down it was on the installment plan. Mac's grief was genuine, but finally he dried his tears and went off to notify Mrs. Rafferty.

"Is this the widow Rafferty?" he asked when a woman appeared at the door.

"'Tis Mrs. Rafferty I am, but no Widow Rafferty," she snapped.

A businesslike gleam came into MacPherson's eye.

"An' how much will ye bet?" he demanded.

Better really be than seem to be.

Here and There

It is announced that a new cave, the extent of which can only be surmised, has been discovered seven miles from Glacier House, Glacier, B.C.

The Yukon Territory is rapidly losing its inhabitants. In 1911 the population was 27,217, and in 1921 it had dwindled down to 4,157.

In an address to the Rotarians in Montreal last week, E. W. Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, made a pointed statement to the effect that Canada needs more capital for its development and more men for the same purpose.

An old-time stampede will be held in Calgary, Alta., between July 5th and July 14th, 1923. The programme will, as usual, include calf roping, contests, broncho busting, and fancy riding and roping, etc.

Resumption of direct steamship service this spring between Montreal and the principal Norwegian ports, with the object of furthering the expansion of trade between Canada and Norway, is announced by the Canadian Pacific traffic agents for the Norwegian-American Line.

The Canadian Pacific steamship "Metagama" recently brought over to Canada 400 men and women of the Hebrides—the first migration of young Hebrides farmers to Canada under the Ontario immigration scheme.

A bill has been introduced into the Chamber of Deputies, Paris, authorizing the Government to expend $3,750,000 francs on the Canadian travelling exhibition. At least thirty French towns will be visited by the train this summer.

As guests of President Beatty of the Canadian Pacific Railway, four boys members of the young farmers clubs of Great Britain will cross the Atlantic and tour the Eastern and Western provinces of Canada.

Canada's exports to the United Kingdom in 1922 were more than $34,000,000 higher in value than exports of Canadian goods to the United States. To the United Kingdom, Canada sold goods to the value of $374,751,894, and to the United States $340,156,247.

Before the war India imported $600,000,000 worth of commodities a year, of which Canada sent not more than $30,000 worth. Last year her imports were $800,000,000, of which Canada sent $1,125,000, and it is now expected that there will be a further increase to between $3,000,000 and $5,000,000 this year.

The Canadian Pacific Railway has arranged with a number of European countries for the emigration of farmers and domestics who are willing to come to Canada for employment on Canadian farms. The immigrants will be brought to Canada at the joint expense of their home governments and the railway company.

The first successful radio experiment on a moving long-distance railway train was recently carried out on a Canadian Pacific Railway train from Winnipeg to Vancouver. Mr. Raymond Wylie installed a receiving set in the drawing room of the through sleeping car, and the aerial was installed by the railway electrical department. The results were all that could be desired.

Seeing the train swaying as it passed her while she was picking berries was the reason why Mrs. Fred Mueller, of Branner, Ont., would not take a ride on a train, but after she had returned to West Monkton from Elmira she told W. C. Gowan, the Canadian Pacific agent at the former station, that she thoroughly enjoyed the sensation of travelling for the first time on a train, which did not go fast enough for her.

ADVERTISE IN THE "CHRONICLE"

Railway News

St. Stephen, N.B. — Accidents through carelessness on the part of automobile drivers are continuing to be frequent. At King Street Crossing, St. Stephen, an auto ran into the side of a Canadian Pacific engine, damaging the auto and throwing the occupants out on the street. The driver claimed that he did not see the train until he was within ten feet and could not stop in time to avoid the accident.

Toronto.—At 1.12 p.m., on September 9th, a Ford coupe ran into left side of Canadian Pacific yard engine 6112, at Allens Road crossing, Guelph, breaking front fenders, lamp, axle and wheel of the motor car. The engine was moving very slowly at the time. The driver admits his responsibility in connection with the accident.

Woodstock, Ontario.—Going at a fast rate in his automobile, and finding himself almost in the track of a Canadian Pacific train, Frank Lancaster, of East Zorra, Ontario, wisely chose running into a ditch rather than running into the train. He was approaching the C. P. R. crossing and did not notice the train until he was nearly on the crossing. The brakes refused to work and he turned the car into the ditch. The auto upset and was badly smashed, but Mr. and Mrs. Lancaster escaped injury.

Vancouver, B.C.—"Tourist traffic during the past summer has exceeded our most sanguine expectations," said Mr. C. E. E. Ussher, General Passenger Traffic Manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway, who arrived at the coast to look over the ground prior to laying plans for next year's business.

The feature this year, said Mr. Ussher, has been the large volume of business done in June and so far in September, two months which are usually more or less slack.

Kamloops, B.C.—Old-timers say that never did the C. P. R. gardens bloom so bravely or colorfully as this year. And surely they never seemed to look quite so lovely with their riot of shades, vivid scarlets and unbelievable blues, vying in every bloom. It is visitors, however, who are most impressed, residents even getting used to such beauty, and between trains, many compliments are paid those whose handicraft brings about such a perfection of blossoms.

Victoria, B.C.—Railway building in the interior of British Columbia is being held up by lack of labor, according to D. G. Coleman, vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company. Mr. Coleman announced that his company could secure only a handful of men to push the Kettle Valley line south from Penticton to the new town of Oliver. While it had been planned to complete the line to Oliver in August, this had been found impossible owing to the scarcity of laborers for the proposed undertaking. The line would be finished this fall, and probably in September, he said. The grade has been completed south to Oliver, but the laying of tracks is being impeded by the labor shortage, he said.

Canada's prairie wheat crop will be 49,000,00 bushels larger than the crop of 1921, said the Vice-President.

Vancouver, B.C.—Without actual figures, even a close estimate of the number of tourists who have passed through this city during the summer months can hardly be formed. Yet, from information received from both Canadian Pacific Railway and White Pass & Yukon officials, it is certain that travel to Alaska, both via this port and Seattle, has been heavier than for several seasons—perhaps since several years before the war.

Every trip of the steamers "Princess Louise" and "Princess Alice", which ply between this port and Skagway, has found the accommodation of the vessels wholly taken up and the indications are that for several trips the heavy travel will continue. Tourists and sportsmen have been flocking to the north by the hundreds, while the mining developments which have been extensive this summer, have induced many mining men to move northwards.

Service Unparalleled
The addition of the "Louise" to the Alaska service this season has furnished the finest service to the north since the B. C. Coast Service was established. Both the "Louise" and "Alice" are palatial, speedy and commodious craft and there is not a tourist returning from the north but who speaks in glowing terms of the splendid equipment of the company.

It's all my fault for giving this thing away," she cried. "You must not blame Theo. Can't you see he is lonely—de-spirit. Don't you think we'd better treat it as an amusing joke and forget all about it?"

"But it isn't a joke," stormed Mr Longley. "That's the trouble. The Miss Elizabeth retreated a step. Her valorous demeanor vanishing before the light in her visitor's eyes. The anger was gone and the look he turned on her said the one thing that she had secretly longed to hear.

"He's right. I was afraid to say it" continued M. Longley, "afraid to ask you to come and look after four wild boys and a lonely man, for fear you might think it was a business proposition with no love attached."

"As though I could ever imagine such a thing?" exclaimed Miss Eliza

Farmers can help Colonization

IN CONNECTION WITH THE IMMIGRATION CAMPAIGN BEING CARRIED ON OVERSEAS

CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAYS
Industrial and Resources Department

WILL RECEIVE APPLICATIONS FROM FARMERS PREPARED TO ENAGE FARM HELP (MALE OR FEMALE) FOR A PERIOD OF ONE YEAR AT RATES
OF WAGES CURRENT AT TIME OF ENGAGEMENT

Farmers are to make application on a form that may be obtained from C.N.R. Station Agents. C.N.R. representatives overseas will endeavour to secure the class of help required in Great Britain, Belgium, Switzerland, Denmark, Holland, Norway and Sweden. The Governments of these countries stand ready to assist this class of their people to emigrate to Canada, but feel that they should be assured of employment for at least one year in order to gain sufficient Canadian farming experience to fit them for going on farms of their own. Farmers who are able to do so, can thus assist in colonization work by engaging help by the year. There will be no charge to the farmer for our service, nor will the farmer be required to make any cash advance for the travelling expenses of his help to the nearest railway station. The information necessarily asked for in these application forms, which will be held in strictest confidence, includes: the kind of help required—male or female—married or unmarried, date required and for how long; nationality desired; monthly wages offered; kind of work, etc.

"If it hadn't been for this brilliant stroke of Theo's I might never have had courage to ask you to marry me," murmured Mr. Longley, advancing in his turn—"but I do."

"If you want a thing," dived Miss Elizabeth, "always ask for it. I was almost afraid you wouldn't."

"And you'll come with me to India for our honeymoon," suggested Mr. Longley, a few moments later. "You say you've always wanted an opportunity to travel—here it is at last."

"And the boys, too," insisted Miss Elizabeth. "You see it was really they who asked me first."

"Just as you say," declared Ma

A wild clang of the bell interrupted them. "That's Theo," declared Miss Elizabeth. "He couldn't wait, another minute to know what was happening. Imagine his horror and suspense when he found you had come in. It might mean anything for him."

"Well," growled Mr. Longley, "he richly deserves a taste of Solomon's favorite remedy for spoiled children, but since I've won the prize through the aid of his remarkable insight—we will consider his account closed."

Father: "My boy, when I was young I often worked for a dollar a month on the farm."

The Son: "Well, dad, I don't suppose you were worth more. I say can I have ten dollars to-night? I want to go to rather a swell dance."

Mrs. Jay: "For breaking things my cook certainly holds the record?"

Mrs. Bray: "I don't know my dear, The last cook I had broke something before she started."

"What in the world was that?"

"Her promise to come."

RASPBERRY CULTURE

BY A LOCAL GARDENER

The wild red raspberry is common throughout Canada and yields a good supply of fine fruits in favorable seasons. It delights in moisture and shade and is generally found growing to perfection in a bluff with a northern exposure.

It has a longer fruiting season than most fruits, producing. The fruit can be eaten raw with cream or used as a preserve. It is easy of culture, but requires considerable protection during winter and should be more extensively grown.

Of the many varieties in cultivation the Herbert or St Regis (red) are probably the best for this district. It thrives best in a deep rich loamy soil, moist and cool. Shoots or canes proceed in the spring of every year from the root stock or root; these bear fruit the following season, after which they die and other canes take their place. New plants are propagated from suckers.

Ground which has been cropped and frequently cultivated the previous year is best and before planting it should be deeply worked incorporating a liberal supply of well rotted manure to ensure a good strong growth. As soon as the ground is ready in the spring plant one year old suckers 3 feet apart in the row and at least 6 feet between the rows and cut them back to 6 or 8 inches above the ground. Cultivate frequently to keep down weeds; to conserve moisture and encourage strong growth of new canes. After the plants begin to make growth give them a good mulch of manure

To provide support for canes place light posts 10 feet apart with two or three strands of smooth wire running horizontally to which each cane should be tied; or where only a few plants are grown place a picket to each cane and keep the bush open in the centre. Pruning in the fall consists in cutting out all dead canes and all but 5 or 6 of the strongest of the new canes for the next season's crop. Gather up and burn all prunings as they are a harbour for numerous insect pests.

The raspberry requires considerable protection during the winter, which is best done by taking the canes of each plant and tying them loosely together at the top, then bend them down to the ground in line with the row taking care not to break them. Place enough earth on the tops to keep them down then cover the whole of the canes with rough manure or straw. This should be done as soon as the wood has ripened and before the ground is frozen. In the spring remove the covering, raise the canes and cut them back to firm well ripened wood to induce the formation of strong side branches that will yield sprays of fine fruit.

ALBERTA COAL TO BE PLACED ON ONTARIO MARKET

A strong revival of the effort to place Alberta coal on the Ontario market in competition with American anthracite, and to fill the serious shortage of fuel which has been experienced in that province is being made as a consequence of the discussion which has taken place in the federal parliament in this respect.

During the convention of the mining and metallurgical institute of Canada at Montreal the past week, a resolution was passed asking the federal government to appoint a committee of three including a freight expert, a mining engineer and a business executive to report upon the feasibility from all viewpoints of making Alberta coal available to the Ontario market. A delegation of Alberta operators also waited on the Provincial Government on Friday asking that the legislature pass a resolution asking the Dominion Government to make an effort to secure a freight rate on Alberta coal that would put it into successful competition with the foreign products in Ontario. The Edmonton Board of Trade also passed a resolution along these lines.

It is estimated by A. Chard, Supervisor of Freight and Traffic for the Provincial Government, that if a $6 a ton rate on train-load lots could be provided from mining centres in Alberta to Toronto, this coal could enter competition successfully with the American product. The present rate is $12.70 a ton, which makes the price of the products in Ontario prohibitive, American bituminous, a coal very inferior in quality to Alberta coal, is selling in Toronto at $7 a ton. Anthracite is selling at $18 a ton. If Alberta coal could be put on the market at Toronto at $13 a ton, it could compete successfully.

The mines now operating in Alberta have a capacity of more than twice their present output, and so would be quite capable of meeting the increased demand. During the past winter, Alberta coal has successfully supplanted the American product on the Winnipeg market, something for which this province has been struggling for years.

CURATE NEEDED SYMPATHY

A shy curate was asked to take care of a young woman's Bible class which up to that time had been taught by a woman. The vicar went along to introduce him. "Now, then, girls," he said, "tell the curate how your former teacher conducted the class and no doubt he will follow the same method." One of the class responded immediately. "The first thing she did was to kiss us all round." Confusion of the shy curate.

"How many times do I have to tell you, Bobby, that one must keep his eyes closed during prayers?"

"Yes, mamma: how do you know I don't?"

Railway News
in Brief

Edmonton.—Grain is still coming into Edmonton in large quantities from towns along the line of the Edmonton, Dunvegan & British Columbia Railway. From the Berwyn extension and from other northern points, the movement has been of sufficient volume to tax the accommodation in the way of freight cars to the limit, and there is no indication that this large movement will not continue. Much grain is still being loaded in preparation for shipment.

Winnipeg.—Stimulated by special rates from Eastern Canada and the United States tourist traffic to the Coast will be fairly good this summer, in the opinion of C. E. MacPherson, assistant passenger traffic manager, Canadian Pacific Railway, with headquarters in Winnipeg. There will be no general reduction of passenger fares over the Canadian Pacific, Mr. MacPherson thinks. Special round trip tourist tickets should make their appearance about the middle of May.

Calgary.—P. L. Naismith, manager of the Department of Natural Resources of the Canadian Pacific Railway at Calgary recently visited Montreal in connection with the proposed bringing of members of the Royal Irish Constabulary to settle on Alberta lands. In connection with this matter a meeting will be held in Winnipeg at the end of March. Amongst those who will attend this meeting are Sir Augustus Nanton, D. C. Coleman, Colonel J. T. Dennis, and Mr. George Walker, solicitor, Calgary. It is expected that some decision will be reached at this meeting.

Invermere.—Mr. Conrad Kain, Alpine guide at present residing at Wilmer, has received a flattering offer to join the second expedition which is being formed to ascend Mount Everest, the giant peak of the Himalayas. Before coming to this section Mr. Kain was an official guide in the Austrian Tyrol. He was brought out here by the C. P. R. as one of the qualified persons to lead Alpinists in their climbs in the peaks of the Canadian Rockies. He has climbed peaks in all parts of the world. Owing to personal reasons he is unable to accept the tempting offer which has been made to him.

St. John.—With a total of 9,455,860 bushels of grain shipped from West St. John by the C. P. R. last week, and 1,500,000 in the elevators, besides 94 carloads on track, prospects are that the total volume of cereal exported from the West Side this season will not be less than 12,000,000 bushels. The grain handled this season includes all varieties with the exception of flax and peas. A small quantity of buckwheat has been handled. Last season, to date, 6,227,297 bushels of grain were exported and for the whole season, which lasted until June, 9,004,160 bushels were shipped.

The C. P. R. elevator crew achieved a record for February, sending out a total of 3,719,891 in the 28 days, the best output ever recorded for the second month of the year.

Vancouver.—The new Canadian Pacific liner "Empress of Australia," it is announced, will be placed in service early this summer. Her first trans-Pacific trip is scheduled to start from Hong Kong for Vancouver on June 29 and from Vancouver and Victoria for the Orient on July 27.

The "Empress of Australia" is practically a new ship, having been in the builder's hands at the outbreak of the war. She has lately been converted into an oil burner, and is similar in equipment and standard to the "Empress of Scotland." A twin-screw steamship of 19,300 gross tons, 590 feet in length, 75.2 in breadth and 41.5 in depth, the "Empress of Australia" will prove a notable addition to the company's Pacific fleet, which already maintains the quickest time across the Pacific with the well-known 16,850-ton liners "Empress of Russia" and "Empress of Asia." She is expected to maintain a speed of 22 knots, and will be able to accommodate 410 first class 130 second class, 330 third class and 1,000 Asiatic steerage passengers.

Here and There

St. John, N.B.—J. M. Woodman general superintendent of the C. P. R., New Brunswick district, announced that the only large expenditure in his district during the year will be for ballasting and bridges. Mr. Woodman returned from Montreal, where he was on a business trip.

Edmonton.—The northern railway extensions, which under the recently announced agreement with the Union Bank will be proceeded with next spring, are to be built by the Canadian Pacific Railway Construction Department. One of the conditions of the agreement between the provincial government and the bank interests is that the C. P. R. do the construction work, it is stated by Premier Greenfield, and the conditions will be complied with by the government, which had originally intended building the roads under its own railway department.

Port Arthur.—Additional trackage accommodation will be constructed by the Canadian Pacific Railway in its Port Arthur yards this coming summer, especially at Current River, to take care of the increasing grain trade to be created by the elevators there. Other work will also be done locally and at Port William considerable will be undertaken, including the replacement of the two large freight sheds destroyed recently by fire with buildings of an improved and fireproof type.

Carleton Place, Ont.—On the occasion of the retirement of roadmaster Jelly and section foreman J. Millikin from the C. P. R. Company's service, the fellow employees and their wives gathered at the town hall, Saturday, and a social evening was spent. The tables were laden with the very best that a caterer from Ottawa could provide, and about 150 people were present from all classes of the company's service.

St. John, N.B.—C. E. McPherson, Assistant Passenger Traffic Manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway, with headquarters at Winnipeg, was in St. John recently, the guest of his brother-in-law, Dr. W. W. White. Mr. McPherson is always a welcome visitor to St. John where he was for many years as the representative of the C. P. R. up to 1897 when he went to Toronto, and later in 1899 to Winnipeg, his headquarters since. He has watched this Western metropolis grow from a town of 40,000 to a city of 200,000.

Yorkton.—Another milestone in the history of railway development in Yorkton and district was marked when the members of the clerical staff of the C. P. R. freight department took up their quarters in the offices of the new freight shed. This building is 240 feet long and 40 feet wide, and provides accommodation for eighteen cars of freight. The building and track alterations involved an expenditure of nearly $70,000.

Winnipeg.—Great interest in the increasing of facilities for the storing and handling of grain at the head of the lakes was reported by Charles Murphy, general manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway, who returned from Fort William. Mr. Murphy stated there would be an enlargement of at least 4,000,000 bushels in the storage capacity during the coming summer, and it was hoped the new equipment would be in working order in time to take care of the next crop. Two privately owned elevators were to be erected and the buildings of the Saskatchewan co-operative company to be enlarged he stated. One construction outfit was already on the ground and construction would be pushed as soon as weather conditions permitted.

CHAUVIN EXHIBITS AT EDMONTON

Messrs Strachan Bros are taking two Shorthorn bulls for entry in the Edmonton Spring exhibition and sale. One of these animals is a very fine four year old, the other a choice animal two and half years old. We wish them good fortune, not alone for their own sake, but as a mark of honor to the district generally.

Don't forget Crit's Sale of Good Fresh Milk Cows at S.W.24-43-3, Monday April 16th at noon.
